

Parallel session 4: 16.00-18.00 Thursday 28 July 2011

Methods 4	Methods 5	Child protection 3	Health 2	Evaluation 3	Panel on US child well-being system
PX001 : LEE	PL001 : FRONES	PL002 : FERNANDEZ	PT006 : GOERGE	PT005 : ANDRESEN	PL005 : BEN ARIEH
Olk, Thomas et al. Normative assumptions of child indicators Martin-Luther-University Germany	Phillips, Ron OECD and education in Canada: Misinformation Nipissing University Canada	Shimoni, Edna et al Background and outcomes of a cohort of children in care in Israel Israel Bureau of Statistics Israel	Toussaint, Jonathan How do I look? Body image and the concern of Australian children: Some implications for policy and practice Interrelate Australia	Barragan, Paola Happiness and Education. A research study on value-based education Oxford University UK	O'Hare, William et al Measures of Child Well-Being from a Decentralized Statistical System: The Case of the United States The Annie E. Casey Foundation USA
Fernandes, Liliana et al A review essay on the measurement of child well-being Portuguese Catholic University Portugal	von Bredow, Maria A report on child well-being in Spain. The development of a comprehensive index and its results UNICEF Spain	Ganne, Claire Child's well-being after leaving a center for infants and single mothers Université Paris Ouest Nanterre la Défense France	de Wilde, Erik Jan et al Youth well-being and youth suicide: Two sides of the same coin? Netherlands Youth Institute Netherland	Huby, Meg Child poverty in six CEE/CIS countries University of York UK	Panelists:  Matt Stagner Executive director, Chapin hall at the University of Chicago.
Moore, Kristin et al Measures of positive outcomes: An interim report Child Trends USA	Casas, Ferran et al. From observations to indicators: A computer package to support the management of social risk in childhood and adolescence University of Girona Spain	de Ayala, Constance et al France setting up a new process for collecting data in children in care system: a challenge at local and national level ONED France	Stolberg, Carolyn et al. Intervention or Prevention? – National child well-being strategies in Germany and Great Britain instancing health behaviour in early childhood Georg-August Universität Germany	Skinner, Christine What do indicators measuring the 'Home Learning Environment' tell us about child development in the early-years? University of York UK	Stephen Blumberg, Office of Data and Program Development HRSA / Maternal and Child Health Bureau  Laura H. Lippman Director, Education and Data Development Program Child Trends
Mensah, Fiona et al. Including multiple domains in analysis of health inequalities: Latent class analysis of physical, cognitive and socio-emotional development in the Longitudinal Study of Australian Children Murdoch Childrens Research Institute/ Royal Children's Hospital/ University of Melbourne Australia	Baltatescu, Sergiu et al. Developing child well-being indicators at county level in Romania University of Oradea Romania	Hood, Rick Outcomes, indicators and professional work in integrated children's services Royal Holloway University of London UK	Bilinski, Hope, et al. The impact of psychosocial well-being on the health behaviours of rural children University of Saskatchewan Canada	Smith, Ruth The introduction of early education provision for two year old children in England National Centre for Social Research UK	Donald Hernandez Department of Sociology Hunter College