

York
Papers in Linguistics
Series 2

---

Issue 14

June 2015

ISSN: 1758-0315

Editors:

Rebecca Woods & Ella Jeffries

Editorial note

Welcome to the fourteenth issue of York Papers in Linguistics Series 2 (YPL). The issue contains papers from staff, postgraduate students and alumni from the Department of Language and Linguistic Science, University of York UK.

The editors would like to thank all the anonymous reviewers who agreed to review papers and provided invaluable comments and advice; the YPL editorial board, Mariam Dar and Aiqing Wang, for their time and assistance with finding reviewers and checking papers; Natalie Fecher and Ania Kubisz for practical and technological support; and the Department of Language and Linguistic Science academic and administrative staff for their endless patience.

Please note that publication in YPL does not prejudice future publication elsewhere.

For more information on the current issue and past YPL publications please visit www.york.ac.uk/language/ypl/ Please address all enquiries to the YPL committee at ypl@york.ac.uk.

Rebecca Woods and Ella Jeffries

York, 30th June 2015

Contents

Developing an Urdu CDI for early language acquisition

Mariam Dar, Huma Anwaar, Marilyn Vihman & Tamar Keren-Portnoy.....1

Pre-school children's identification of familiar speakers and the role of accent features

Ella Jeffries.....15

The role of gender-correlated sociolinguistic variables in identifying speaker-indexical information

Ania Kubisz.....41

Implicit associations with Welsh in two educational contexts

Rachelle Lee.....81

Accent categorisation by lay listeners: which type of "native ear" works better?

Chen Shen & Dominic Watt.....106