Hi! I’m Amy and I study Environment, Economics and Ecology at the University of York. For the second year of my degree I did a study abroad year at the University of British Columbia, Okanagan campus in Canada. It was an incredible year, I met so many new people, learnt to ice skate and had the chance to travel around some parts of Canada and America. As a peer advisor I am here to help other students have the same once-in-a-lifetime experience that I had in Canada.

Hello, I’m Max and I took part in one of the International Study Centres during Summer 2016 where I spent time studying culture and politics at the University of Cape Town. I’m a second year English Literature student and I believe that students should make the most of York’s tailor-made international opportunities.

Hi, I’m Lucy and I’m currently in the fourth year of my French and German degree, after spending my third year abroad. I spent the first semester of my year abroad studying at the University of Geneva in Switzerland and then I spent the second semester working as an English language assistant at two different schools in Innsbruck, Austria.

It really was an unforgettable opportunity and I’ve learned so much from the experiences I had during that time. Getting involved in one of the many international opportunities that York has to offer is incredibly rewarding and something I’d recommend to anyone.

Hi! I’m Will and I study German and Spanish here at York. As part of my degree I went on a year abroad, spending the first half of the year in Berlin interning at a translation company and the second half in Buenos Aires teaching English.

It was a truly unforgettable year full of experiences and life lessons. I was also fortunate enough to be able to travel within the countries as well as around the continents in my spare time.
