

Centre for Applied Human Rights

Duch the Confessor: Cambodia's Killing Fields on Trial

Thierry Cruvellier

Thierry Cruvellier is a journalist and former Nieman Fellow at Harvard who has written extensively on war crimes trials in Rwanda, Sierra Leone, Bosnia, Colombia and Cambodia. He is the author of a new book on the trial of former Khmer Rouge prison commander Duch, The Master of Confessions. His earlier book, Court of Remorse, focuses on the Rwanda Tribunal. He has also worked as a consultant with the International Center for Transitional Justice and with the International Crisis Group.

Wednesday 16 November
5:30 pm

Law and Management Building, LMB/030/031
Heslington East Campus, University of York