

Centre for Applied Human Rights

Human Rights in Sudan: Legal Framework, Political Challenges and Practical Difficulties

Majid Maali
CAHR Human Rights Protective Fellow

Majid Maali is a former child soldier who was conscripted to fight in the Sudanese civil war. Later, as a human rights lawyer, he created an access to justice network that provided free legal aid for IDPs, students, women and other vulnerable groups. His NGO ran community centres for IDPs from Darfur before the government banned it in retaliation for the ICC arrest warrant against President Al-Bashir.

Wednesday 15 December
13:15-14:15 pm

LMB/002, Law & Management Building
Heslington East Campus, University of York