Holidays

Think about the following questions.

What was the best holiday you ever went on?

1. What did you do?
2. Who did you go with?
3. Where did you go?
4. Why was it your best holiday?
5. Would you recommend this holiday to someone else? Why?

Now prepare to tell up to 5 other people about your holiday. Listen carefully when they talk about their holiday. When they have finished talking, complete the table below. How much can you remember? If you can't remember something, ask the person to repeat it.

E.g Sorry, who did you go with? I can't remember what you said.

So, why did you enjoy it so much?

Centre for Global Programmes

In your group, ask each other what kind of holidays you like best. Use the ideas below to help you.

Do you like:

- Sunbathing on the beach
- Visiting places of interest
- Visiting museums and galleries
- Staying in a hotel complex
- Seeing how the local people live
- Doing something different every day
- Doing sports activities eg diving
- Doing activities in an organised group
- Being totally independent of other people

Your group is going on holiday together. Agree on a holiday that you will all enjoy (you might need to compromise a bit!!) Try to persuade the others that your country is the perfect place for your group's holiday. Talk about what you can see and do in your country and what a wonderful time your group members will have there. Below are some ideas to help you, but you can choose anywhere in the world.
