Global Health Histories Seminar 124: Health in Emergencies

| 18:00-20:00 | 7 April 2019 |
| Auditorium 2 – Cultural building – Doha Institute for Graduate Studies |

Panellists:

Professor Mohammed Ali-Maadheed
Visiting Professor, University College London (UCL) School of Life and Medical Sciences
President, Qatar Red Crescent

Dr Awad Mataria
Regional Adviser of Health Economics and Financing, WHO Regional Office for the Eastern Mediterranean

Monishankar Prasad
Independent Researcher, Oman, UAE and India

This seminar will pose the question, how we should rethink humanitarian interventions in acute emergencies? Our panellists will consider why it is important to reshape the humanitarian system around affected populations, putting them back at the centre of the system; the interlinkages between humanitarian response and long-term development objectives; the role of health communication, and whether Universal Health Coverage could be implemented in health emergencies.