GLOBALIZATION OF MEDICINE AND PUBLIC HEALTH

ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL PERSPECTIVES (1850-2000)

Organizers: Sanjoy Bhattacharya (University of York), Thomas David (University of Lausanne, EPFL),
Pierre-Yves Donzé (Kyoto University), Davide Rodogno (Graduate Institute of International and Development Studies)

12-13 March 2015, Lausanne, Switzerland

Venue: Building Amphimax, room 414, University of Lausanne

Picture Credit: Wellcome Library, London

The objective of this conference is to contribute to a better understanding of the driving forces behind the globalization of medicine and public health since the mid-19th century. In the last twenty years historiography has consistently progressed on the cultural and social dimensions and consequences of Western medicine in colonial Africa, Asia and in Latin America (imperial medicine). The aim of our conference is to consolidate existing critical analyses of the emergence of global medicine and explore new research avenues. To do so we will gather scholars of economic and business history, global history, history of medicine, history of public and international health and study a wide variety of countries and regions.

For more information: www.unil.ch/globalisationpublichealth

UNIL | Université de Lausanne

FNSNF Fonds national suisse de la recherche scientifique

ÉCOLE POLYTECHNIQUE FÉDÉRALE DE LAUSANNE

Centre for Global Health Histories

The Graduate Institute Geneva — Institut de hautes études internationales et du développement — Graduate Institute of International and Development Studies

京都大学 KYOTO UNIVERSITY