

White Rose DTC workshop 2016

14 & 15 June 2016

Venue: Berrick Saul, University of York

Talks in Bowland Auditorium

Break-out discussion groups: BS/007, BS/008, Bowland

Theme: Is linguistics an empirical science?

Schedule:

Day 1 (14 June)

13:00 Registration

13:25 Marilyn Vihman, University of York
Welcome

13:30 Márton Sóskuthy, University of York
A statistician's little shop of horrors

14:30 Tea and coffee break

15:00 Discussion groups

16:00 Cecile de Cat, University of Leeds
Grammaticality judgments as an empirical basis for syntax research

17:00 Discussion groups

18:00 Wine reception

19:00 Dinner at Jamie's Italian
(not included – please register by 1 June if wishing to attend. Payable on the night)

Day 2 (15 June)

10:00 Dagmar Divjak, University of Sheffield
Four challenges for usage-based linguistics

11:00 Tea and coffee break

12:00 Discussion groups

13:00 Lunch (free of charge – please book by 1 June if wishing to be included)

