

December 2018 newsletter

PhD research under the Spotlight

The PhD Spotlight competition challenges students to communicate their research using a range of media. Find out about the breadth of research being carried out at the University by PhD students on subjects from #MeToo to combating antibiotic resistance, from degree apprenticeships to listening to insects with iPhones.

Exhibition winners from each faculty, plus an overall winner, will be announced at YorkTalks on Wednesday 9 January 2019. Book your free place.

- PhD Spotlight competition research summaries

Christmas on campus

The Student Hub and York GSA have put together a guide if you're spending Christmas on campus.

Find out about Christmas events on campus and opening times for local and university services over the holidays.

- Christmas on campus guide

Borrow a laptop

Did you know that you can borrow a laptop on long-term loan from the Library?

They are set up to give you access to wifi, printing and your personal filestore and have the software that you would expect to see on a classroom PC (eg MS Office) installed. You can borrow it for up to one month at a time, and you may take it overseas for research work.

- Long-term laptop loans for PG researchers

Develop a course with the Centre for Lifelong Learning

The Centre for Lifelong Learning would like to work with postgraduates to develop new course ideas for its programme of adult evening and day classes. In return, you'll be paid for teaching. You will also become part of the Centre's peer support network and will be invited to staff development events. Deadline: Friday 11 January 2019.

- Suggest an idea for a new course

New for 2019 - National Centre for Research Methods (NCRM) training

Find out new courses offered by the National Centre for Research Methods. Subjects include how to write your methodology chapter, using creative research methods, spatial interaction modelling, introduction to data linkage and analysing linked data, and more.

- NCRM training

All these news items and more can be found at the York Research Student Community

www.york.ac.uk/YGRS

Sent this in error? Email: ygrs@york.ac.uk