

PhD Workshop: Sociology in Public with Professor Les Back, Goldsmiths College

Wednesday 24th April 2013
2pm-4pm*

W/231D, Wentworth College, University of York

Almost ten years on from Michael Burawoy's spirited 2004 American Sociological Association Presidential address the issue of sociology's relationship to the public has become a key issue. In the workshop we will explore how to think of public sociology both as a practice and a principle. Also, we will explore what it means to do sociology differently at the level of form, authorship and in relation to time.

Participants are asked to bring one example of how their research experience or through their reading of how doing sociology makes contact with a public beyond the university.

This event is free but places are limited. To reserve a place, please email kimberly.jamie@york.ac.uk as soon as possible. It is anticipated this event will be full quickly.

*Refreshments will be available in W/231D from 1.45pm.
