Is there a ‘best’ time for a person with dementia to move to a care home: emerging findings

Professor Jill Manthorpe, King’s College London

Wednesday 20th November 2019
1.30pm (registration from 1.00) to 4.30pm
York Pavilion Hotel, YO10 4PJ

Currently Jill is involved in advisory work for the Department of Health and Social Care on several subjects and works closely with social care and health sector employers to link research, policy and practice.

Jill will be reporting on a study funded by the NIHR School for Social Care Research and also discussing early work on an Alzheimer’s Society project on residential respite care.

This study interviewed 20 social workers and 20 care home managers and 100 dementia care practitioners completed a survey about when they might advise a person with dementia to consider a move.

For subscribing organisations this is an Adult Services event. For others there is a fee of £95.

Bursaries are available for students, staff and service users, as well as for volunteers from voluntary groups, community groups and charities; please ask for details:

http://www.york.ac.uk/spsw/research/research-impact/mrc/