The NDTi research team have been working alongside partner organisation ‘My Life My Choice’ (MLMC) to explore how to address the barriers that people with learning disabilities face in developing and sustaining sexual relationships. These barriers may include attitudes, lack of information and limited opportunities to meet people.

Further barriers can result from the way that services, support and care for people with learning disabilities are commissioned and delivered, such as rules and practices in residential care and supported living, curfews, visitors, overnight guests and limited privacy.

What commissioning and support practices support people with learning disabilities to develop and sustain sexual relationships?

For suscribing organisations this is a Adult Services event. For others there is a fee of £95.

Bursaries are available for students, staff and service users, as well as for volunteers from voluntary groups, community groups and charities; please ask for details:
