Section 2: Strategic Development, Performance Monitoring and Student Insight—items for consideration and/or decision

23-24/94  Initial Analysis of Degree Outcomes for Undergraduate and Postgraduate Taught Provision

The Committee considered a report on Initial Analysis of Degree Outcomes for Undergraduate and Postgraduate Taught Provision presented by Niall Booth (Strategic Planning and Performance). A further report is due to be presented to UTC in May following HESA publication of Student and Qualifiers data 2022/23.

23-24/95  The Committee observed the following:

1. For PGT students there was a correlation between higher IELTS scores and outcomes.
2. Outcomes could be affected by changes to the definition of merits and distinctions that were made under COVID rulings, and may also be affected by changes to award and progression rules from 2023/24.
3. PGT figures included students studying on HEP online programmes and it was questioned whether this was appropriate given the particular nature of the study cycles of these students, or whether an alternative way of providing data would be more appropriate for this group. Computer Science online were not included in SIA's report on degree outcomes.
   Action: Niall Booth, SIA to consult with Zoe Devlin, Head of Online Partnerships, Simon O'Keefe, Computer Science and Steve King, Associate Pro-Vice-Chancellor (Teaching, Learning and Students)
4. The way data relating to IPC students is presented will also need specific consideration.
   Action: Niall Booth, SIA to consult with Matthew Perry, Director of International Pathway College
5. The discrepancies between Arts and Humanities and Social Science faculties might be explained by the numbers of international students on particular programmes.
6. It will be important moving forward to ensure that analysis is located at the right level (for instance at the level of the programme rather than department/school), taking account of key contextual factors (including for example the impact of leaves of absence on student outcome data). SCA can help in drafting a narrative / contextual explanation, but before extensive work is undertaken, a plan for future analysis should be brought to UTC.
   Action: Niall Booth, SIA
7. Data futures has affected the HESA return. The date of release is currently set to 24 April 2024.
8. It was agreed that prior to release of any tableau reports, they should be shared with UTC to ensure appropriate contextual information is provided.
   Action: Niall Booth, SIA

Reports on Student Representation [UTC.23-24/56a (YUSU) and 56b (GSA), Open]

23-24/96  The Committee considered reports on Student Representation from YUSU and GSA which were presented by Meely Doherty, YUSU, and by Cytherea Shen, GSA. It was reported that:

1. YUSU's co-opting of academic representatives was successful and resulted in a group that is more engaged and representative of the student body. YUSU wished to carry on co-opting academic representatives.
2. GSA's recommendations included:
   a. To improve recruitment via engagement with Departments/Schools, particularly focusing on PGRs and Graduate Teaching Assistants.
   b. To enhance the model of representation within the new union and link academic representatives with wider democratic work; to review and continue to provide a high quality training package for all academic representatives.

c. To incorporate the recommendations of the report to the development of the new union’s academic representation strategy.

Action: Meely Doherty - YUSU Academic Officer, to bring a paper to the UTC which outlines future arrangements of sabbatical officers to capture student voice.

Section 3: Policy and Regulatory Matters

The Committee considered and endorsed submission of this paper to Senate.

Section 4: Quality Assurance Processes

Annual Report on Higher and Degree Apprenticeships [UTC.23-24/58, Open]

23-24/98 The Committee considered a presentation of the annual report on Higher and Degree Apprenticeships. Sarah Reynolds-Golding, Head of Apprenticeships. delivered this presentation.

23-24/99 The Committee observed that:

1. There was a typographical error on the paper which had been corrected on the presentation. It was noted that the OFSTED review had taken place in November 2023, and not February 2024.

2. The team were congratulated on the “Good” outcome of the OFSTED report, and on their strategy around widening access and links to the Access and Participation Plan.

3. Further conversations would be had regarding careers and employability as apprenticeship provision grows.

23-24/101 The Committee noted that:

1. Policy and guidance in relation to rescaling marks should be revisited. Guidance could be delivered in a more creative way to inform students when and why it has been used (for example, by way of a video).

   Action: Patrick Gallimore, SCA Chair

2. The Department of Maths has high NSS scores related to assessment feedback and could be consulted about best practice.

3. The recommendation that the external examiner’s form be revised to include a specific question relating to feedback provided to students was considered appropriate.

3-Year Review Follow-up: York Online Management Programmes [UTC.23-24/60, Open]

23-24/102 The Committee considered the 3-Year Review Follow-up: York Online Management Programmes. Zoe Devlin, and Jane Neal-Smith, Head of Online Partnerships, School of Business and Society, presented the paper. UTC was asked to note:

1. The updated action plan to assure itself of progress made.

2. Course representatives had typically not been very engaged, which was an ongoing issue with online programmes, and which affected closure of the feedback loop “you said, we did”. YUSU and GSA would be consulted about options to support this.

   Action: Zoe Devlin, Head of Online Partnerships

23-24/103 The Committee noted:

1. The development of learning from online programmes feeding into campus programmes, and vice versa, which was being achieved through adopting best practice in assessment from the MBA programme.

2. York Online Management Programmes team would be notified if/when another update report should be submitted.

   Action: Duncan Jackson, Head of Academic Quality and Development

3. It would be useful to compile a report identifying common actions from the Computer Science and Management reviews to inform the MBA review, and to share this with the UTC Chair, Deputy Chair and Tom Banham, who would ascertain resource implications.

   Action: Zoe Devlin, Head of Online Partnerships
