I thoroughly enjoyed my experience working and living in Vienna. Not only have I improved my level of German massively, but I have also gained many transferable and intercultural skills, which will stand me in good stead for future work. I have been lucky enough to meet lots of new people and in doing so, have learned a lot about the Austrian way of life.

From attending a ball at a famous palace, to being taught how to make strudel, to wondering round Christmas markets in the snow; this experience has been truly unforgettable and I have made memories that will last a lifetime. I would definitely advise other students to study abroad to improve their language skills, develop international competences and explore new cultural experiences.
