Intended learning outcomes for the programme – and how the programme enables students to achieve and demonstrate the intended learning outcomes
This programme provides opportunities for students to develop and demonstrate knowledge and understanding qualities, skills and other attributes in the following areas:	The following teaching, learning and assessment methods enable students to achieve and to demonstrate the programme learning outcomes:

A: Knowledge and understanding
 Knowledge and understanding of: For the Masters, Diploma and Certificate: 1. A range of intellectual and methodological traditions within the field of education 2. How their learning can contribute to 	 Learning/teaching methods and strategies (relating to numbered outcomes): The programme is structured to include lectures, seminars, workshops and tutorials as the main methods of enhancing knowledge and understanding (1 – 4) Lectures, workshops and seminars are interactive and professional development and practice and personal growth 3. How to critically read educational research 4. A substantive area of education and 	students are encouraged to discuss and evaluate arguments, critically engage with theory and practice in their chosen field, and undertake problem solving activities. Skills of critical evaluation and analysis are further enhanced though directed tasks $(1 - 4)$
educational research Additionally for the Diploma:	 For masters students, data collection and analysis are developed through the research methodology modules and through the production of an independent study (1 – 5)
 Additionally for the Masters: 5. How to design, carry out, and interpret an independent study in education 	 Types/methods of assessment (relating to numbered outcomes) Knowledge and understanding is assessed primarily through course work assignments. Examinations are used where exam tasks most closely match the way in which knowledge and understanding developed in a particular module might be applied in practice (1 – 4).
	 Performance in planning and communicating research is assessed on a multi-task pass-fail basis (3 & 5). A dissertation is used to assess the depth of knowledge and understanding of research processes and procedures students have acquired throughout their studies and to assess their ability to conduct an independent study (1-5).

B: (i) S	kills – discipline related
Able to: For the Masters, Diploma and Certificate: 1. Critically interpret, analyse and	 Learning/teaching methods and strategies (relating to numbered outcomes): Discipline/subject specific skills are modelled in lectures, evaluate theories, concepts and arguments in the study of education2. Formulate arguments and contribute to discussion in the area of education	seminars, and workshops. Mastery of these skills is enhanced through student participation in seminars, peer-teaching sessions and workshops $(1 - 7)$
 Where appropriate, critically reflect on professional practice in the light of relevant educational theory Demonstrate that they can assimilate 	 Types/methods of assessment (relating to numbered outcomes) Discipline-specific skills/ professional skills are Able to:	Learning/teaching methods and strategies (relating to numbered

For the Masters, Diploma and Certificate:	outcomes):
 present complex ideas clearly and articulately in English work with others of different cultural and linguistic backgrounds to achieve an objective independently manage their time, make plans, and set priorities to achieve complex objectives over several months' work assimilate, analyse, and evaluate complex information in English, identifying key issues and drawing well-reasoned conclusions word-process, manage files, use e- mail, VLE and the Web 	• Transferable skills are introduced to students through sessions within the induction programme and skills sessions within modules. IT and numeracy skills are further developed in Communication and Information Skills modules. Students have the opportunity to further develop work and study skills through researching and producing assignments and for masters students an independent study. Oral communication skills are particularly developed through seminars and presentations, group work, participation in interactive lectures. Teamwork skills are enhanced through group activities and presentations. The entire course is an exercise in time management. Students are required to set objectives, determine priorities, schedule their workload and meet deadlines $(1 - 6)$
Additionally for the Diploma:
 Additionally for the Masters: 6. locate, interpret and analyse research data 	 Types/methods of assessment (relating to numbered outcomes) Transferable skills are addressed in the induction programme and within modules. Some are assessed within indirectly within particular modules, and some are directly assessed within optional modules (1 – 6). Presentation skills are often given formative feedback within modules, but are formally assessed on a Pass-Fail basis in the Planning and Communicating Research module (1-6).

University award regulations

To be eligible for an award of the University of York a student must undertake an approved programme of study, obtain a specified number of credits (at a specified level(s)), and meet any other requirements of the award as specified in the award requirements and programme regulations, and other University regulations (e.g. payment of fees). Credit will be awarded upon passing a module's assessment(s) but some credit may be awarded where failure has been compensated by achievement in other modules. The University's award and assessment regulations specify the University's marking scheme, and rules governing progression (including rules for compensation), reassessment and award requirements. The award and assessment regulations apply to all programmes: any exceptions that relate to this programme are approved by University Teaching Committee and are recorded at the end of this document.

Departmental policies on assessment and feedback

Procedures and policies relating to assessment, marking and feedback can be found in the University's Guide to Assessment, Standards, Marking and Feedback.

The Department follow the University rules for progression and award outlined in:

The Guide to Rules for Progression and Award in UG Programmes; and

The Guide to Rules for Progression and Award in PG Programmes

Further information on assessment (including grade descriptors, marking procedures, word counts etc.) is available in the Programme handbooks on the Department's website: http://www.york.ac.uk/education/intranet.

Information on formative and summative feedback to students on their work is available at the online module catalogue at: https://www.york.ac.uk/students/studying/manage/programmes/module-catalogue/module.

¹ The credit level is an indication of the module's relative intellectual demand, complexity and depth of learning and of learner autonomy. Most modules in postgraduate programmes will be at Level 7/Masters. Some modules are permitted to be at Level 6/Honours but must be marked on a pass/fail basis. See University Teaching Committee guidance for the limits on Level 6/Honours credit.

² The credit value gives the notional workload for the module, where 1 credit corresponds to a notional workload of 10 hours (including contact hours, private study and assessment) ³ Special assessment rules (requiring University Teaching Committee approval)

P/F - the module is marked on a pass/fail basis (NB pass/fail modules cannot be compensated)

NC – the module cannot be compensated

NR – there is no reassessment opportunity for this module. It must be passed at the first attempt ⁴ AuT – Autumn Term, SpT – Spring Term, SuT – Summer Term, SuVac – Summer vacation

Quality and Standards
The University has a framework in place to ensure that the standards of its programmes are maintained, and the quality of the learning experience is enhanced.
Quality assurance and enhancement processes include:
 The academic oversight of programmes within departments by a Board of Studies, which includes student representation
 The oversight of programmes by external examiners, who ensure that standards at the University of York are comparable with those elsewhere in the sector
 Annual monitoring and periodic review of programmes The acquisition of feedback from students by departments.
