

Enrolling on Futurelearn courses with your University username and password

You can use your University username and password to sign up for exclusive courses on the FutureLearn platform or to receive upgraded access to our open MOOCs

This guide will walk you through the process.

You will need your University username and password to sign up for the courses. If you are an offer holder you should have received these in an email when you made your application or received your offer. If you have any problems finding or using these, please contact itsupport@york.ac.uk

As these courses are offered through the Futurelearn platform you should review their privacy notice using the link at the bottom of their course page before registration. When you sign up for courses with your University credentials we will provide FutureLearn with your username. FutureLearn provides the University with details of your enrolment, access and engagement on the courses that we manage.

Steps to enrol

1. Click the “Sign up now - York account holders only” button on the York course page, this will take you to the correct page on the Futurelearn site.
2. Review the privacy notice at the bottom of the page and then click the Continue button.

The screenshot shows the FutureLearn website interface. At the top, there is a navigation bar with the FutureLearn logo, menu items for 'Subjects', 'Courses', and 'Using FutureLearn', a search bar with the text 'Search online courses', and buttons for 'Sign in' and 'Register'. The main content area features a large heading: 'Welcome to FutureLearn, please confirm your course'. To the right of this heading is the University of York logo. Below the heading is a course card for 'University Life at York: UG'. The card includes a photo of three students, the course title, a description: 'Learn what life as a student is really like from our student unions, Colleges and societies through to our support services', and course details: '2 weeks' and '3 hours per week'. A pink 'Continue' button is visible on the card. A large blue arrow points to this button with the text 'Click Continue'. At the bottom of the page, there is a privacy notice: 'FutureLearn will share information about your course activity with University of York so they can track your progress. FutureLearn may also email you when there are other courses that University of York would like you to join.'

Stay secure

Be wary of any program or web page that asks you for your username and password.

University web pages that ask you for your username and password will generally begin with "https://shib.york.ac.uk/" or "https://www.york.ac.uk/".

Remember to close your web browser after using any secure services, especially if you are using a shared or public computer.

4. You will need to link to a FutureLearn account to be able to access the course. If you have a FutureLearn account already click Sign in, if you don't click Register to create your account.
5. If you create a FutureLearn account you can use any email address you like and for security you should avoid using your University password. FutureLearn will hold this data in accordance with their privacy policy.
6. You will then be taken to either the course welcome page or the course content if the course content if the course has started.
