WELCOME

Discover the romantic history of The Bowes Museum's founders, John & Joséphine Bowes, its beautiful setting and wonderful collections.

One of Britain's most fascinating museums, it's also one of the most important outside London.

The amazing collection of European fine and decorative art is complemented by major exhibitions and events. Exhibition highlights for this season include Tim Walker: Dreamscapes; Laura Ashley: The Romantic Heroine and, continuing in the fashion vein, a stunning menswear show featuring Henry Poole & Co., renowned as the founder of Savile Row tailoring.

Our ever-expanding programme of events, ranging from Family Fun Days to outdoor markets, offers something of interest for everyone.

Enjoy your visit!

Award Winning Museum

The Museum, which has recently undergone a £12m makeover, houses a superb collection of fine art, textiles, dress, silver & metals, ceramics, furniture, toys, local history and much more in 20 impressive galleries on three floors. It has recently received a bronze award for North East Tourism Large Visitor Attraction of the Year.

View a masterpiece

Get close to some of the world's finest works of art including paintings by great artists such as Canaletto, Goya, El Greco, Turner and the beautifully restored painting of Olivia Porter, recently revealed on the BBC Culture Show to be a work by the 17th Century court painter, Van Dyck. Don't miss the famous Silver Swan musical automaton performing daily!

Explore Fashion & Textiles

This extensive collection can be seen in a stunning, state-of-the-art gallery, combining historic collections with contemporary design. The gallery has a growing reputation for the quality of its permanent collection and its superb exhibitions.

Enjoy Stunning Views

The Anglo-Saxons in the North

JULY – 31 DECEMBER

Highlighting the Museum's Anglo-Saxon archaeology collections in celebration of the Lindisfarne Gospels' return to the region in 2013.

Jeremiah Dixon: Scientist, Surveyor and Stargazer

27 APRIL – 6 OCTOBER

Jeremiah Dixon was brought up in Cockfield, County Durham, but became best known for his work with Charles Mason in surveying the border between Pennsylvania and Maryland, known as the Mason-Dixon line. This year marks the 250th anniversary of this epic task.

Tim Walker: Dreamscapes

25 MAY – 1 SEPTEMBER

An innovative exhibition of photographs by leading fashion photographer Tim Walker, exploring his reputation beyond the pages of Vogue and Vanity Fair. The ambition and scale of his images is impressive, as they are not digitally manipulated; every fantastical scene is created with props. For the first time, Walker's images are displayed in light boxes, giving them a new quality of drenched colour. The exhibition focusses not so much on the model and the dress, but looks at Walker's use of landscape and props, both indoors and outdoors, offering a timely new reading of his work.

Dolls, Bears & Robots

29 JUNE – 8 SEPTEMBER

Over the summer holidays a colourful display of vintage dolls, teddy bears and robotic toys alongside interactive, available for all to enjoy.

A Celebration of Men's Tailoring and Wool Cloth

21 SEPTEMBER – FEBRUARY 2014

Featuring contemporary and ceremonial tailoring from Henry Poole & Co., Savile Row, and historic menswear from the Museum's collection.

Laura Ashley: The Romantic Heroine

21 SEPTEMBER – 5 JANUARY 2014

The exhibition will bring together Laura Ashley's dresses of the 1960s and 70s that embodied the pastoral idyll of this iconic British designer. These vintage dresses, borrowed from a number of public and private collections, will highlight her aesthetic vision which has come to epitomise ideas of Britishness during this period. An exhibition organised by The Fashion Museum, Bath.

How to Hide a Lion

26 OCTOBER – 9 FEBRUARY 2014

This exhibition brings Helen Stephens' entertaining stories to life. Children can find out how she writes her books and explore some of her original artwork. The exhibition is interactive and includes costumes, craft activities and games.
